SAFETY RECALL NOTICE

Dear BlendJet Consumer,

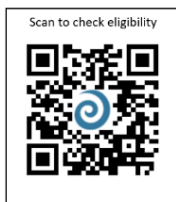

BlendJet Inc. is voluntarily recalling certain BlendJet 2 portable blenders. BlendJet determined that the bases in certain older blenders can overheat or catch fire, and the blades can break, posing fire and laceration hazards to consumers. BlendJet 2 units subject to this recall were distributed to Europe in 2021 and 2022.

BlendJet has voluntarily undertaken this recall effort and we strongly encourage you to participate. Retail records indicate that you may have purchased a blender covered by this recall.

How Are We Making This Right?

Customers who have a recalled BlendJet 2 should immediately stop using the blender and contact BlendJet for a free replacement base.

Is My Unit Affected?

You can easily check if you have a recalled BlendJet 2 by entering the serial number of your unit into the "Is my BlendJet 2 Recalled?" tool located at www.blendjet.com/safetyandrecall.

If your BlendJet 2 is not affected by the recall, you can continue to use your blender without any hesitation and no further actions are required.
